About Lifewave Technology

This technology is dedicated to all those in search of an alternative solution to drug treatments or who have tried other conventional therapies, but to no avail.

Everyone can enjoy the benefits the LifeWave phototherapy patches offer, enhancing their health and daily life quality.

What is LifeWave's vision?

It all began in 2002 when David Schmidt, an American scientist, first discovered that he was able to increase the energy level in human cells and reduce pain by using certain specific wavelengths of light.

He has created a bio-photo-modular technology, with several ranges of patches, which people can now apply at home, on their own, on certain places corresponding to traditional acupuncture points. When placed in contact with the skin, these patches are being activated by body temperature and send a signal that stimulates cells to regenerate and increase their energy production.

What do LifeWave products offer?

11 LifeWave patch products have been developed, tested and approved, and these patches have undergone over 80 clinical trials. They are being used worldwide in over 100 countries by people of all ages, necessities and conditions, with extraordinary, quick, long-lasting benefits and with no side effects.

Over 30 million patches are being sold annually and help people around the world perform better, live without pain or inflammation, sleep better, increase their antioxidant levels in the body, control their stress levels without using medication, chemicals or expensive therapies.

What do LifeWave patches contain?

The patches contain a patented mixture of natural organic crystals, stabilized oxygen, purified water and amino acids of plant origin; the adherent part is made of polyethylene for medical use and hypoallergenic adhesive 3M.

They are non-transdermal, do not cause side effects and are not addictive.

David Schmidt

Founder / CEO LifeWave

LifeWave technology was invented by David Schmidt, an American scientist, during his research for the United States military.

The project he was working on was aimed at devising a new technology able to increase energy levels and decrease pain without the use of chemicals, stimulants or drugs, in a completely safe way. After years of research, David Schmidt has developed the world's first prototype, that he named "LifeWave Energy Enhancer". It was an innovative combination of traditional Chinese acupuncture and the cutting-edge discoveries in the field of phototherapy. The prototype looked like a small electrode that did not require an external power source, because it was being activated by body heat. Right after its application onto the skin, it sends a signal, through which cells are being activated to regenerate their potential and increase the level of inner energy production.

Energy Enhancer reflects certain light wavelengths that stimulate specific locations on the skin, stimulating energy production in cells. They activate the metabolism of fats in the muscle mitochondria.

Scientists around the world are looking for solutions to help people live longer and stay younger or to slow down the aging process, but, most importantly, to prevent diseases.

David Schmidt is no exception, because, as an American scientist and researcher with more than 100 patents, he has been particularly interested in regenerative science for more than 20 years. In search of rejuvenating solutions, he continued his research on the copper peptide, found in human plasma, which nourishes the spinal cord, bones and sends signals to stem cells to activate them.

Proven technology, embraced by high-performance athletes and Olympic athletes

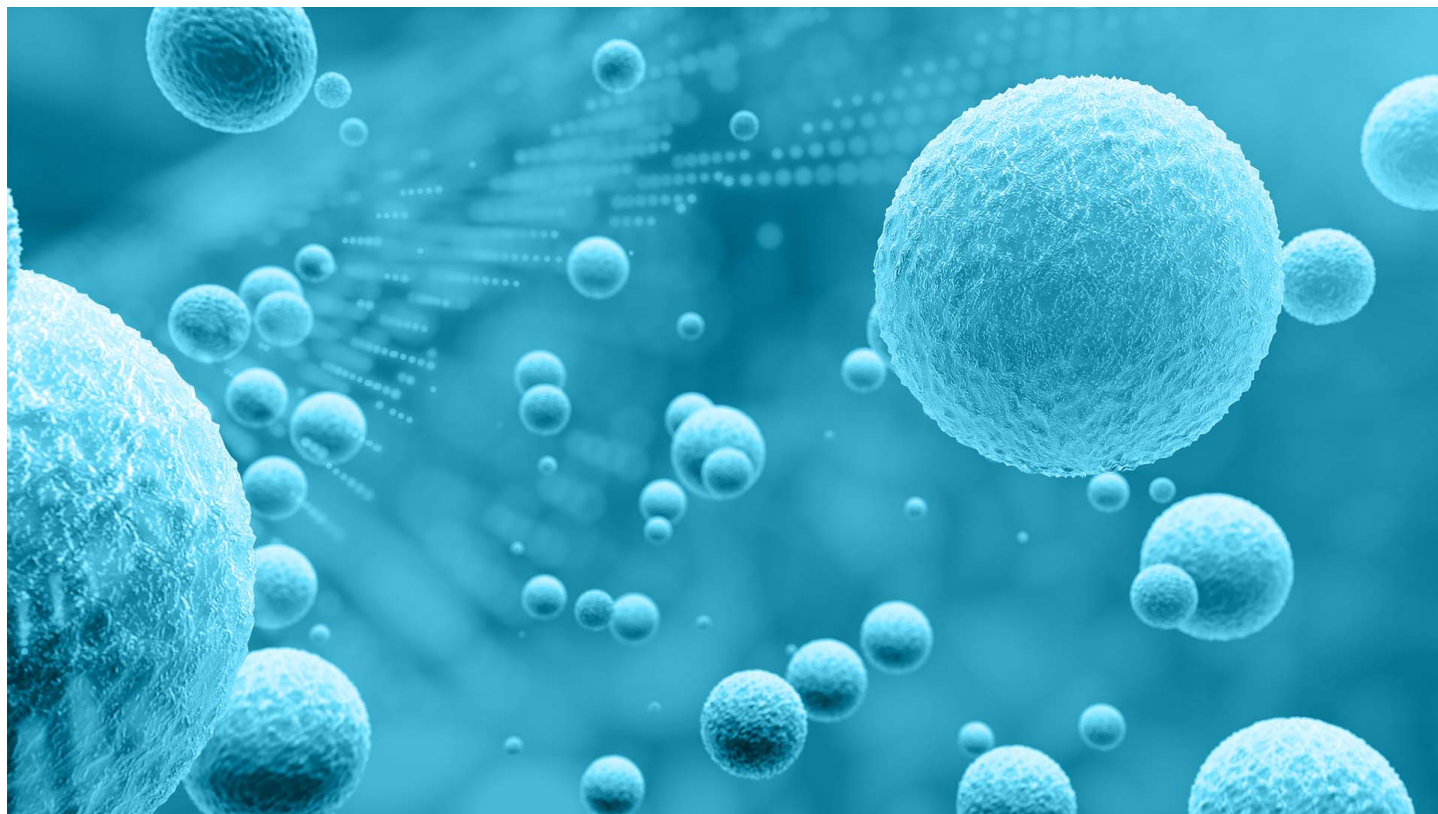

The first independent study for the “Energy Enhancer” prototype has shown a 22% increase in energy resulted from fat burning and a 25% increase in endurance, a remarkable result considering that no chemical enters the body during use.

This news spread very quickly in the world of high-performance athletes, who began using the product and, thanks to it, breaking their life records. (Energy Enhancer patches were used for the first time at the 2004 Olympics by the Stanford University swimming team, in which 6 out of 8 athletes broke their lifetime records).

Over time, athletes such as David Beckham, Serena Williams, Ronnie Coleman and Olympic gold winners in all sports have been spotted using patches as a safe and natural way to raise their energy level, to reduce the recovery time and to gain a competitive advantage. The patches have been tested anti-doping.

Shortly after inventing the Energy Enhancer patch, David began working on another product aimed at reducing pain and inflammation. This is how IceWave was created, a product used by physiotherapists, kinesiologists, professionals and people around the world as an effective method to relieve pain in the back, shoulders, knees, head or spine. The same technology is being used today for the natural activation of stem cells, having amazing and fast results.

How does LifeWave technology work?

We are accustomed to believing that, to improve our health, we need to introduce something into our body: to swallow a pill or take a medicine. However, our body is the best equipped pharmacy and chemical laboratory in the world. We are endowed with everything we need to improve our health or to raise our energy level from inside, using our own resources.

People and even professionals often misunderstand, ignore, and even ridicule radically different technologies and new commercial products, when these seem to diverge from conventional approaches.

For the market to accept and embrace a product that works in a radically different way, the users and healthcare professionals need to understand the unique benefits of a product and how it differs from other products on the market.

The unique nature of LifeWave patches

LifeWave patches are different from any other technology currently on the market. While other patches, when applied onto the skin, introduce substances into the body, LifeWave patches are non-transdermal.

While LifeWave patches do not introduce substances into the body, the natural biological substances they contain are used to create specific bio signals that modulate the body's natural bio-electric field, thus enhancing certain specific biological reactions that already occur naturally. To stimulate the body with electric or magnetic fields is a well-known and accepted practice in medicine.

Most people are aware that electricity or magnetic energy at different frequencies can be generated and applied onto the body with electronic devices that are external to the body. The application of subcellular electricity is called electrical stimulation, respectively magnetic stimulation. LifeWave technology also uses bioelectrical stimulation, but nonetheless, stimulation is due to the production of specific electrical frequencies by the body's natural magnetic field, activated by the materials in the patches.

Essentially, what David Schmidt the inventor of LifeWave patches did was to use the body's electrical and magnetic characteristics as a cellular radio to transmit weak bioelectric signals from the patches to the body, to increase the body's energy production, natural synthesis of antioxidants and to activate its own stem cells, etc.

LifeWave patches can influence the body's chemical reactions, such as converting fats into energy, with no chemical entering the body. Instead of introducing chemicals into the body, these patches are designed to transmit specific bioelectric signals to the body.

When the LifeWave patch interacts with the body's magnetic field, the natural substances within the patch act as a transmitter of a specific set of electrical frequencies.

They act as small mirrors reflecting the biophotons the cells constantly release. This energy is being reflected in a concentrated form to activate the healing, regeneration and detoxification of the body from the first second. These nanocrystals are calibrated to certain wavelengths of light, specific for each patch, depending on what it was set to activate, so the patches are different and act specifically on a certain range of health challenges.

What is modern phototherapy with patch technology?

We have known for hundreds of years that specific light waves can cause very strong reactions within the human body. For example, when we are exposed to sunlight, a certain frequency of light will stimulate the body to produce Vitamin D. This is a completely natural process that does not require the ingestion of any medicine.

David Schmidt began studying this phenomenon, in his pursuit to determine which light wave activates the production of stem cells, Glutathione and Carnosine (two antioxidants very important for our overall health), performance in sports, cell regeneration and the immune system.

LifeWave technology uses this knowledge in a similar way, stimulating various energy locations in the body, which in traditional Chinese medicine are called acupuncture points or meridians. By stimulating specific energy channels in the body, energy circulation is improved together with the entire communication system in our body.

While using our body's own resources, this technology assists and supports the human body in using its full regenerative potential.

LifeWave patches work by reflecting certain infrared light frequencies back into the body, which allows the proper production of glutathione (antioxidant master), carnosine (longevity protein), melatonin (sleep hormone) or the natural activation of stem cells by raising peptide levels. GHK-CU. The patches do not signal on their own: they are specifically designed to passively reflect back into the body a portion of the light frequencies to which they are exposed when placed on the body.

Simple, effective, clinically tested in over 80 studies conducted by medical experts around the world.

Phototherapy is the science that studies the impact of light on the human body by exposing it to daylight or specific light waves generated by lasers, diodes, fluorescent lamps, etc. (For example, when we are exposed to the sun, our body initiates a chemical reaction and produces Vitamin D or melanin to protect us from ultraviolet rays).

This type of therapy is commonly found in clinics, beauty salons, doctors or therapists offices and is being used successfully to treat skin conditions such as psoriasis, in pain relief, wound healing, depression, hair growth stimulation, facelifts, etc. This idea is not new. As far back as two thousand years ago, the ancient Greeks had a centre for studying the effects of different coloured lights on the body. Even the ancient Egyptians, who promoted health by focusing sunlight through coloured glass on certain areas of the body, understood this concept. Imagine what our lives and health would be like if we could use phototherapy anywhere, anytime, at low cost, to obtain specific results based on our individual health needs!

Your body emits heat in the form of infrared light. These patches are designed to trap this infrared light when placed on the body, which causes them to reflect particular wavelengths of light. This process stimulates nerves on the surface of the skin which in turn produces specific health benefits that are unique to each LifeWave patch.

By stimulating the skin with phototherapeutic patches, we can today obtain even the natural activation of our own stem cells and the acceleration of the body's healing process, and thus the power of light can be used anywhere and at any time.

After 20 years of development and extensive clinical trials, X39 is the first patch in the world that activates stem cells, while having multiple benefits, is at your fingertips and can be used from the comfort of your own home.

Who needs stem cells? Everyone...

Stem cells are the cells that generate and regenerate all the cells and structures of the human body. They are the basic cells for our tissues, organs, blood and immune system. They can differentiate into other type of cells, such as nerve cell, muscle cell, bone cell, depending on the health needs.

But the body's ability to produce new stem cells decreases with age, and thus our ability to heal decreases. By the time we reach age 60, the stem cells in our body show very little activity, become slower and release less of the growth factors that are needed to repair our body. By the time we are in our mid-70s, we are showing almost no stem cell activity at all.

Stem cell therapy has the potential to treat many health problems and diseases that now cannot be treated with any form of current therapy.

Only there are a few problems we face when approaching stem cell therapy: its safety, efficacy, cost and legal aspects (in some countries stem cell therapy is not legal).

For this reason, we bring to your attention a non-invasive, safe form of stem cell activation, that is also affordable in terms of cost, by using a new patented technology of X39 phototherapy patches.

How do X39 patches activate the stem cells?

The patches use a patented form of phototherapy to stimulate the body while being applied on acupuncture points. They increase the level of a peptide valuable for our health, GHK-Cu. This is a natural peptide in our body that decreases significantly with age. In fact, after the age of 60, your GHK-Cu level drops by more than 60%.

Independent clinical trials on GHK-Cu have shown some remarkable benefits, including supporting the body's natural wound healing process. Perhaps even more remarkable, GHK-Cu brings the genes in our body to a healthier and younger state. In the initial clinical work of Dr. Loren Pickart, he discovered that old liver cells, when exposed to GHK-Cu, began to function as younger, healthier cells!

This peptide has got the ability to naturally activate our own stem cells!

What most companies working in the field of stem cell drugs are trying is to inject the person under treatment with stem cells from a younger donor. While this is promising, the problem is that this method is potentially dangerous (uncontrolled cell division), expensive (over 10,000€ for a single treatment) and not always legal (most countries have not approved stem cell therapy).

Do not use if pregnant or nursing. Not recommended for children and pregnant or breastfeeding women, because of the detoxifying effect that may affect the baby or the quality of the milk.

	Day 1 Apply the patch at the base of the back of the neck, where the C7 vertebra protrudes if you tuck your chin to your chest.
	Day 2 Three finger widths below the navel.

Four easy ways to use the x39 patches

1. They can be applied onto the locations suggested above, as in the brochure received with the product.

Y-age Glutathione

Supports the immune system and protects the body against oxidative stress.

- Glutathione is the body's main antioxidant
- Supports the immune system
- Promotes the release of stored toxins
- Improves overall health
- Patented, proprietary form of phototherapy
- No drugs, chemicals or stimulants

Glutathione is the superstar antioxidant in our body, and its production decreases with age. The human body has problems absorbing large amounts of glutathione from external sources. Most of the glutathione in supplements is lost during the digestion process. Thus, if you take supplements, a small part of the glutathione in them stays in your body.

You can now stimulate its internal production by only applying a single patch, through this innovative technology.

As we age, our body produces less and less glutathione. Poor nutrition, pollution, intestinal problems, lack of vitamins and minerals, stress also contribute to decreased glutathione production. Supplementation is necessary for a healthy lifestyle.

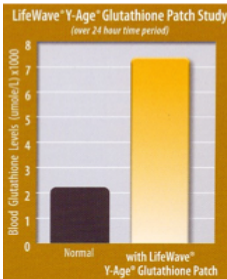

After more than 130,000 studies on this molecule with strong antioxidant effects, it has been discovered that glutathione has many benefits for the body, and its lack is related to diseases such as:

- Down syndrome, heart disease, cancer, chronic infections, autoimmune diseases, diabetes, autism,
- Neurodegenerative diseases such as Multiple Sclerosis, Alzheimer's, Parkinson's,
- Arthritis, asthma, kidney disease, liver disease.

Why Detox? 1. To help your body get rid of waste, pollutants, heavy metals, nicotine, drugs, residues and other toxic substances. 2. If you have been affected by the symptoms of a disease. 3. If you were a smoker. 4. If you took a lot of medicines. 5. To eliminate weight. 6. To prevent illness. 7. To stay healthy.	Symptoms of detoxification: • Dry mouth; • Metallic taste in the mouth; • Fatigue; • Headaches; • Nasal excretions; • Nausea; • Mild eczema / acne; • Diarrhea; • Smokers / former smokers may smell smoke on their skin or have a yellow tongue; Symptoms of detoxification are not dangerous! (Not everyone experiences such symptoms.)	In the process of detox it is important to: 1. Use Silent Nights and Carnosine. It is important to have a restful sleep when doing detox, in order to restore the autonomic nervous system and support organ recovery. 2. For the detox to be successful, avoid sugar, excess carbohydrates, alcohol and cigarettes.

You should drink one liter of water per 30 kg / body weight to make sure you eliminate all toxins in the detox process.

How long and how often do you need a detox? Between 1-4 weeks, it depends on how sick you have been and how much medication / pollutants / chemicals you have been exposed to. If you are a smoker, the detox should last for 3-4 weeks. We are also severely affected by air pollutants, food pesticides and hormones, chemicals in medicines, and household products. They cause enormous oxidative stress in the body and this is the reason it is advisable to support our body regularly with a detox that will improve or maintain our health to an optimal level. A detox protocol is indicated every 3 months / half of the year in case of a healthy lifestyle.	How do I reduce my detoxification symptoms? You can use the Energy Enhancer patches for the first 5 days, after which you follow the recommended detox protocol including the other patches. If the symptoms persist, remove Glutathione and Aeon patches, drink two large glasses of water and wait 2 hours. If the reaction is more severe, remove all the patches, wait a few hours or until the next day, or consider following the protocol for a few hours a day until you are able to reach full duration.

Cătălina Păun

Therapist

Hi, I'm Cătălina Păun, a therapist by profession, and what immediately won me over in Lifewave was the unique concept of regenerative medicine, the concept that Einstein talked about years ago, when saying that "the medicine of the future will be the medicine of the frequencies." This is Lifewave - the ability to restore the body using the body's own energy, its own resources, and therefore I believe that it represents the future in the field of health. The emergence of unique and innovative devices in the field of natural stem cell stimulation, such as X39 and X49 have revolutionized the market and surprised us through their amazing capabilities to generally rehabilitating the whole body, demonstrated by thousands of testimonials received from those who used them with remarkable results. In conclusion, what is Lifewave to me? Knowledge, evolution, innovation, health, multiple opportunities to help others, career opportunities, recognition and well-being. What could be BETTER than that?

„I've always loved to bring smiles on people's faces. In all my professional hypostases, that is, as a bank manager or as a coach, trainer, I've been motivated by this aspect. It's impressive how Lifewave fulfills my need, allowing me to contribute directly to people's well-being. Its beauty is that we can not only improve our mood or level of health but also provide an opportunity to raise our standard of living by generating additional income.”

Alina Popescu is a bank manager. Her passion is personal development, that's why she has accreditations in this field, being a coach, a John Maxwell Team trainer speaker.

She has heard by chance of the Lifewave products and tested their effectiveness on a family member with a serious illness - diabetic foot. The amazing results she has achieved have led her to start developing a business with these products and after less than 6 months of experience she already has a team of about 50 people. As a kid, I used to love watching Charlie Chaplin movies, and the words "A day when you didn't laugh is a lost day" have been imprinted on my mind.

I have built my life around this axiom and my biggest reward as a therapist is to bring a smile on people's faces, a success to which the phototherapeutic patches also contribute every day.

I take the opportunity to thank David Schmidt for the indispensable tools with which we bring value to the lives of people around us.

Thank you Lifewave!

Entrepreneur

I have been an entrepreneur for over 20 years in a classic business, and for several years I have developed a passion for healthy living and well-being most of the time. And, because I'm self-taught, in my quest to improve my quality of life, I discovered Lifewave patches, I immediately wanted to test them and I wanted to be part of the Lifewave community. If someone had told me 1 year ago that I would work in and promote a Network Marketing business, I would have answered that it is not for me. I chose to grow the Lifewave business because in NM, in order to grow, you have to grow others first, but in a classic business you have to grow yourself to the detriment of others.

In December 2019, the Universe sent me a sign to the questions I had been asking during that time: What therapy could I apply to my clients to relieve their pain easily? How could I help them not to depend on me forever? What therapy could I recommend to my clients to support them to easily overcome stress, anxiety and panic attacks?

The answer came when I myself needed help with low back pain, after a busy day in my practice. A friend applied an X 39 patch to my pain spot, and... in 15 minutes, the pain was gone.

That's where it all started... I have the greatest satisfaction when, during my live presentations, I test the phototherapeutic patches for pain, on the people in the room and I notice their joy and gratitude when they realize that a pain they might have had for days or months disappears, or it improves significantly after the application of patches on the pain spot.

Thank you LifeWave for this great opportunity!

Phototherapeutic patches can be applied from the comfort of our home by each of us. They act by stimulating the body naturally to produce antioxidants.

My journey into the world of phototherapy began in August 2021, when one of my two children ended up with a nasty cystic otitis. Since I am a person passionate about empowering the body with the help of holistic therapies, I decided to try these phototherapeutic patches. LifeWave technology was introduced to me by my friend, who has been using it for some time; after discussions with her and the documentation on the support groups in our country and abroad I chose to use the phototherapeutic patches Aeon, Glutathione and X39. After the wonderful results obtained by using this technology, we chose to use it for the whole family, for our non-speaking friends and all the friends who trusted to use this technology. Yes, it is possible and there are holistic solutions that empower us, give us energy, increase our well-being, in a word they are Magical ✨!

Andreea Ciobanu

Network Marketer

My name is Andreea Ciobanu, I am 30 years old, I have been network marketing for 4 years, but the previous company I worked for did not bring me the fulfillment I needed in my life. I'm at the beginning of my life in LifeWave, but it gave me more than I could have imagined: from a much better health (it relieved my asthma and reduced my breast cysts), to the financial side. I feel like I'm making a difference in the world. I am most happy when I receive a phone call, and the person at the other end tells me that his health issue has improved or disappeared. I want to bring as much happiness as possible into people's lives.

Ina Roșcan

I big „Thank you!” to Lifewave and to my friend Magda for offering me this opportunity. My story is simple, I was looking for an alternative solution to get rid of allergic rhinitis, but I discovered something much more beautiful. Fantastic products that save us with our babies in many situations, including vacations, quick fix for viruses, allergies, stuffy nose, tummy aches. We received, included, more energy, quality sleep, fast recovery, sports without muscle fever, rejuvenated skin and body. At first glance, you may say it's Magic, but when this Magic happens to you, you feel blessed.

Thank you LifeWave for the chance of having an International Business, to be paid in short time, if you do the work and of helping people everywhere to be healthier and more prosperous. Thank you to the entire Romania Team, you all are wonderful, together we will succeed! As Jeff Keller puts it: "If I can still choose, I'd rather be around people with a positive, lively attitude." It all depends on the decision each of us make. It's worth being positive, open and just testing, doing the right things and the results are coming, larger than one had expected. Good luck to all!
